"YOU'LL SUFFER ALL YOUR LIFE"

That's what the Doctor told him

"Fruit-a-lives Cured Him"

CHENOWETH, Ont., Jan. 25th 1912
"Over twenty years, I have been troubled with Kidney Disease, and the doctors told me they could do me no good, and that I would be a sufferer for the rest of my life."

I doctored with different medical men and tried many advertised remedies,
but none of them suited my case.
Nearly a year ago, I tried "Fruit-a-lives," I have been using this fruit preparation ever since, and I am glad to say that I am cured.
I give "Fruit-a-lives" the credit of doing what the doctors said was impossible.

I am now seventy-six years old, and am first class healthy.
GEO. W. BARKLEY,
In all the world, there is no other remedy that has cured so many cases of so-called "incurable" kidney disease, as
"Fruit-a-lives."

"Fruit-a-lives" medicine actually acts on the kidneys—helping and strengthening them—and ridges the system of the waste matter that poisons the blood.

Passing Events

His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and party have been having a strenuous week in Saskatchewan and Alberta, and are receiving a royal reception everywhere. At Edmonton the Duke opened the new institute building, His Royal Highness being presented with a golden key made of Saskatchewan river gold with which to enter the precincts.

Motor racing had to be cancelled with another shocking casualty, when on Saturday afternoon in the races at the Motorrome, in Newark, N. J., Eddie Haskell, of Waco, Texas, plunged over the side of the track, causing the death of six persons, including himself and John Albright, a Denver motor cyclist, who was riding third in the race, while six more are dying
and thirteen are badly injured.
Five thousand spectators were witnessing the finish of a four-mile free-for-all race when the Texan, doing 95 miles an hour, took his plunge. He was riding high on the bank on the track when the wheel of his heavy machine swerved and struck the upper rail, pitching him head first fifty feet into the air.

A bomb explosion in the marketplace at Montreal, Quebec, 17
miles northwest of Salsolici, Quebec, on Sept. 10 killed
twenty persons and injured thirty. It is not stated why the outrage was committed, or who was the perpetrator.

Lloyd's Bank of London has agreed to lend China $50,000, 000 at 5 per cent for forty years, the loan being secured by unpledged revenue, chiefly the salt duty. The wheel of the loan is hereby dissolved by mutual consent. All accounts owing to the said Fullerton & Craigen are payable to James
S. Fullerton, by whom all debts owing shall be paid into A. M.
Macdonald, Esq., Barrister.

Arrangements have been completed by the Dominion Government for establishing an experimental farm at Fredericton, N. B.
The property selected is about two miles from the city and comprises a considerable acreage. Mr. Hubbard, secretary of the Department of Agriculture of New Brunswick, has been selected as superintendent.

Rates on cattle messages between the United States and Great Britain and Great Britain and Canada have been reduced from ten to seven cents per word, excepting during certain hours when the rate is five cents per word.

The meeting of the British Association for the advancement of science in Dundee, is creating extraordinary interest
owing to the remarkable address of Prof. Schuster, the president on the results of biological research and his belief that living material will some day be artificially produced in the laboratory, followed by an address of Sir Oliver Lodge, who said very interesting experiments were going on, but that the whole subject seems to be in the region of speculation rather than of demonstrative fact. Among other distinguished speakers were Bishop Weldon, who said and notwithstanding the great achievements of science in all departments it still stands bal-
died at the door of creation, and that the key to the great problem still remains and is likely to remain in the hands of Providence. However, there was nothing in the President's address to create the slightest opposition or uneasiness in the mind of any Christian. The pedigree of man and the gradual emergence of human traits
from the habits of man's ape-like ancestors was the subject of a paper read by Prof. Elliott
Smith, of Manchester University.

In the economic section Sir Henry Cunyham declared in his address that the old doctrine of the divine right of kings had now been replaced by the divine right of majorities.
Legislation must have regard to natural laws. Taxes often resemble arrows shot into the air. When they were intended to fall on the landlords, they often fell on the tenants, and when they were destined for the producers they just as often hit the consumers.

Mr. Herbert
Samuel read a paper in which he discussed the question of the centralization of government,
the unity of the Empire and the important matter of defence.

LACOMBE FAIR BREAKS RECORD

The Products of the Lacombe District Create Splendid Impression Among Visitors.

Grain showing a growth of eight feet, with heads twelve inches long.

Corn fourteen feet high.

Horses that could hold their own with any produced in the world.

Cattle unequaled anywhere on earth.

Hogs that would make the eyes of the packers open with amazement.

Sheep as good as any in Canada.

Vegetables—well—it is hard to find an adequate adjective to express an opinion of them.

The Nineteenth Annual Fair of the Central Alberta Exhibition Association was held in Lacombe on Wednesday and Thursday last, and will go down in history as the very best held in this district.

The cattle, horses, pigs, sheep, poultry, grains, vegetables, etc., on exhibition were of a very high grade, and visitors were heard to freely express the opinion that for mixed farming the Lacombe District has proved its superiority over the rest of the west.

Thanks to the indefatigable efforts of Fred H. J. A. Evans, all arrangements were satisfactorily made for the convenience of the exhibition, and to him is due in no small degree the credit for the success of the fair.

The directors in charge of the various classes had their work well in hand and everything passed off without a hitch.

The exhibits were well displayed, and in all departments the entries showed a great increase over previous years.

The horses and cattle for which Lacombe is famous, were there in large numbers, and a splendid addition to the usual exhibits represented was the exhibit of Belgians by A. Haazen, of Regina, who had a number of these animals on exhibition. Mr. Haazen's Belgians created a lot of interest, and that gentleman is to be congratulated on his enterprise in showing them throughout Central Alberta.

As an advertisement of this splendid type of heavy horse, no scheme could prove more effective.

Clydes and Percherons, Messrs. P. A. Switzer, R. M. Gibson, Laidman & Sargeant, Ledingham & Lang, and John Ellis were the principal prize winners, and their entries would have taken prizes in any exhibition in Canada.

F. H. Duckett and S. Kangeiser were the only exhibitors of Percherons, and their entries were of a high class.

In heavy horses, A. D. Swanson, R. M. Gibson, F. A. Switzer, P. McLeannan, P. Talbot & Son, J. Forester and W. Threlle, were in keen competition with each other and the judges had a hard time awarding the prizes, their animals all being of a uniformly excellent class.

In the agricultural class, Captain Evans, P. A. Switzer, W. E. Tees, H. Bowen, Thos. Henderson, John Ellis, W. M. Gibson, W. Swanson and Laidman & Sargeant carried off the honors, and their entries were exceptionally good individuals.

In light horses, Dr. Harrington carried off the honors in Hackneys, while in Thoroughbreds and Standardbreds, Jno. Woods, Dr. Harrington and Manning Bros. captured the ribbons.

There was a splendid turnout in the rooster and turkey classes, the entries of Dr. Peat, J. Forester, P. Talbot & Son, F. Taylor and Wm. Gibson, qualifying for prizes.

Miss Vickerson and Miss Pearce took the honors with their ladies' saddle horses; H. Langrock and Jno. Wood with their gentlemen's saddlers; while T. L. Porter, E. Plum, F. Vickerson and Jno. Wood carried off the money in the boys' pony class.

When it comes to pure-bred cattle, Lacombe always leads, and the exhibit of the various breeds was above the standard of either the Calgary or Edmonton exhibitions.

In Shortbreds, P. A. Switzer carried off nearly all the prizes, Jno. Ehling and E. Plum all having some creditable entries. The judges in this class said that they had yet to see better specimens of this splendid breed than in the showing at Lacombe.

There was keen competition in the Polled Angus class; L. Hutcheson, W. Stewart, L. R. Stewart, J. R. Shaw, Henderson and J. R. Shaw having entries in every section, and their class was one of the most interesting on the ground.

W. E. Tees cleared up all the prizes in the Gallopy class with his splendid best of prize winners. This herd has taken the bulk of the prize money at the fair of Alberta this year, and deserves it. Mr. Palmer had everything his own way, and proved that when it comes to white faces he could produce the goods.

Grade breed cattle called out a heavy entry, and some remarkably good animals were on exhibition. W. Stewart, E. Plum, J. Capron, W. E. Tees, and H. J. A. Evans were among the top notchers in this class.

Ayrshires were represented by the splendid entries of J. J. Gregory and W. B. Winalow, and these gentlemen had the prizes divided pretty evenly between them.

C. Stasch, T. Newman, and G. E. White had some splendid Holsteins on the grounds, which were much admired by visitors to the fair. The cattle are gaining in favor every year, and are found to be a paying investment in a country where high prices are always in order for butter.

Capt. Evans was the only exhibitor in the Jersey class. W. E. Tees, L. Hutcheson, G. W. Gattick, P. A. Jacobson, Laidman & Sargeant, and A. C. Bruns filled the hog classes with their entries, and if the remark is appropriate, there were some lovely animals on exhibition.

James Chivwell carried off all the prizes in the sheep classes, with a splendid exhibit.

Taken all through, we venture to say that no fair held in this district has been a better exhibit of high class live stock than was on exhibition here on Wednesday and Thursday last.

Bryce Wright, of De Winton, and H. B. Smith judged the horses and cattle, respectively, and their awards gave unusual satisfaction.

The domestic and ladies work classes were filled, and some beautiful handiwork of Lacombe's fair sex was viewed with envy by visitors from other districts. The cakes, pies, and preserves of various kinds made one hungry, and had it not been for the sign "hands off" and the vigilance of the directors in charge, very few of the exhibits would have been returned to the exhibitors.

And vegetables. We hardly dare give our opinion of the display, as outsiders will think we are deviating from the truth. There were pumpkins weighing seventy pounds; turnips that tipped the scale at twenty-two pounds; radishes eighteen inches long, carrots of equal length, and that could not be beaten in Missouri with stalks fourteen feet high. (True) Sugar beets weighing twelve pounds; nice ripe tomatoes, and potatoes, the like of which can't be found outside of Lacombe. As an evidence of the great growing power of Lacombe soil the vegetable display should have been sufficient to convince the most skeptical that nature has favored our district above all others in life province. We almost think we hear the gasps of astonishment from the visitors at the Dry Farming Congress at Lethbridge next month when they come face to face with the exhibit from Lacombe.

President Belcher, of the Board of Trade, took advantage of the opportunity to secure the best thing on exhibition to be added to the Lacombe exhibit at the Dry Farming Congress and will have an exhibit that will beat the world.

The following is a complete list of the prize winners at the fair:

INSURANCE

FIRE

Winter is coming with its attendant dangers of fire. Stoves and furnaces will get too hot and lamps and lanterns will upset and explode, and electric currents will get short-circuited. It is folly not to have your buildings and contents insured in a good, reliable company. We are agents for several of the best, including one that makes a specialty of insurances of town property and industrial plants.

GRAIN

Do not take any chances with your grain, now that you have it. We can insure it while it is in the stack, the granary or the elevator, against loss or damage by fire, from any cause whatever. The rate is reasonable too. A spark from the threshing machine or a match from a careless smoker may lose you hundreds or thousands of dollars, which you could save by investing a few dollars in grain insurance.

LIVE STOCK

We can insure your stock, whether registered or grade, in first class companies. From the first breeder to the farmer with a couple of cows, no one owning live stock can afford to take the chance of loss when for a few dollars he can have the greater part of the risk assumed by a reliable company. We have companies that are willing to assume the risk. See us for particulars.

LIFE

Life insurance, either as an investment or as a protection can be written in our office with the best Company in Canada. Every man should carry enough life insurance to cover his liabilities, should he suddenly "shuffle off this mortal coil." He will thereby leave his heirs, most low and annoyance from having his estate wound up speedily. Protect yourself, your heirs, and your estate with some life insurance.

ACCIDENT

It is safer to sit on a steam engine than on a binder. Statistics prove that the percentage of accidents among farmers is higher than in any other occupation. It is the duty of every man, especially those who are not independently wealthy, to protect himself against accident and disability. A few dollars per annum spent in insurances will help a lot in tiding over a spell of sickness or time lost because of accident, and keep the family in case of death.

On Monday, Sept. 16th, an unfortunate accident happened at Mr. Rangen's home seven miles north of Eckville. Mr. Rangen had the rifle out looking for coyotes and when he returned to the house laid it down while he put away the horses. His son seven years old took up the rifle which was not loaded, but had shells in the magazine. The boy loaded and discharged the rifle, the bullet passing through the great toe of the baby who was lying in the cradle. The wound was dressed by the doctor at Eckville and the baby is doing well. ## The Doc's Lullaby

"Hush, my babe," croons old Doc Wiley, as he walks the floor at night; "surely I esteem you highly, and would further your delight; I would join you in a frolic, cure you of your stomach ache, but there is no hope for colic that is fit for you to take. Listen to your daddy-chirrup, and you'll soon improve, I mean I can't give you soothing syrup that is loaded with morphine! Deadly dyes and acid boric, alcohol by drugs defiled, constitute the narcotic you are yelling for, my child. Cease! Cease your frenzied screaming! Parents in the bygone times doped their children, little dreaming that they thus committed crimes; infants always did keelhaul their rattled parents when they roared, and those parents, in their stomachs diverse brands of poison poured. We know better, now, my darling, open are our eyes, I hope; so you'd better quit your snarling, for I will not give you dope. If a baby's tummy's aching, it must ache until it quits; if in spasms he is shaking, he must throw his little fits. Trust to nature—who will cure you; she at least will bring you ease; and all dope, I do assure you, is more fierce than the disease. Therefore, pray, quit your shrieking; I have pains all up my back, and my wayward knees are creaking and I just stepped on a tack."

Hear It

Ty Cobb said at a baseball banquet in Minneapolis:

"I admit that there is too much loud talk, too much arguing and wrangling and chin music in a game of baseball."

"I know a man who was seen the other day getting into a taxicab."

"Where are you going?" he was asked.

"I'm going to hear the ball game," he replied."

Adventurous Career of Ivory Poacher

"King Roberts," the American who was shot by British soldiers in the heart of Africa a few weeks ago, was formerly employed by the government. He had spent ten years or so in the territory about the Victoria Nyamias and Lake Albert, and knew it like a book. When he decided to take up the profitable but highly dangerous profession of ivory poacher he was well equipped for the work, knowing the favorite haunts of the elephants, the beats of the Belgian and British guards, the language of the natives, and the way to get his stolen ivory out of the country once he had it in his possession. A hardy, resourceful man, a good shot and gifted with few scruples, James Ward Rogers thought he could speedily accumulate a fortune by hunting elephants. He knew other men who had done so, and he saw no reason why he should not succeed. Even before embarking on his career, however, he realized that if he should be caught it would be better to fight than fall into the clutches of the Belgian officials. To an American friend to whom he confided his plan, Rogers said that he would never survive the sentence of from three to five years imprisonment that is imposed in the Belgian Congo on the illicit elephant hunter.

Getting Rich Quick
His very first venture showed him the possibilities of the business, and also introduced him to its risks. For with $8,000 worth of ivory in his possession, the fruits of only a few days' shooting, he ran into a camp of Belgian soldiers, lost his booty, his guns and equipment, and barely escaped with his life. On this trip Rogers made a bold move. Instead of cautiously scouting along the border of the Congo and Uganda, in the hopes of dodging both British and Belgian authorities, and by crossing the line, escaping whichever police happened to be hottest on his trail, he chose to penetrate into Belgian territory. He went eighty or ninety miles inland from Lake Albert, accompanied by a little band of natives, although he was told by the natives that he was committing suicide to poach so far from the frontier. Luck, however, was with him, for he penetrated to a spot where he never had shot over and that was a veritable elephant sanctuary.

An Elephant's Sanctuary
The first day, he said, two elephants walked into his camp and were killed. Next day he struck a herd of twenty and killed seven. In the next two days they shot four apiece, although one of them nearly got the hunter. Were it not for the fact that the ivory poacher's is very poor, Rogers would have perished there, for he was unarmed in the face of a charging bull elephant. He managed to find a tree and the brute could not see him. A boar then rushed up with a second gun and killed the elephant. In nine days he shot thirty elephants and had nearly a ton and a half of ivory in his possession, worth about $8,000. This was about all his bearers could carry, so he decided to make a swift dash for the border, avoiding the Belgian patrol, to miss a partner who was in waiting for him.

In A Belgian Trap
Unfortunately, news of his exploit had reached the Belgian officials and they were on the lookout for him. They had raided his partner's camp, driven him out, occupying it themselves to await Rogers' coming. Seeing the camp at the appointed spot, he walked unsuspectingly into it and was made a prisoner. All his ivory was taken as well as his guns. He was made a prisoner, but by the judicious expenditure of a few pounds he was able to escape to British territory, where he met his partner, who had decided to quit the game and take up safe-fencing or something less dangerous. Borrowing a little money from his partner Rogers again equipped himself with a few guns, and getting together another band of natives, once more plunged into Belgian territory, a distance of eight days' march. In four days he shot thirty-two elephants and, as he remarked, the slaughter gives some idea of the great numbers of elephants still to be found in Central Africa.

Fifteen Hundred Elephants
Once he saw from a hill a herd of fully fifteen hundred elephants, on the plain below. Behind every tree were two or three elephants, their huge ears flapping, some of them asleep. He did not attack the herd because all the elephants were valuable but had been shot out of it by another hunter, who had taken a hundred fine tusks to London. On this second trip Rogers secured about $10,000 worth of ivory. He succeeded in smuggling it out of Belgian territory into Uganda. There the British officials did not question him too closely as to the origin of his ivory, and on paying a duty he was able to dispose of it. Two or three other trips Rogers made into Belgian preserves, each time returning with a good haul, but later on he became afraid to go back, because every soldier in the Congo was on the lookout for him. It was then decided that it was wiser on the whole to kill his elephants in Uganda, and for two or three years, through the co-operation of the natives he avoided the police. Finally, an expedition under Captain Fox was fitted out to bring Rogers in, dead or alive. His tragic fate was told in the news columns a few days ago. As Kipling has said, if the patience of the British Government is long as a summer day, his vengeance is long as a winter night.

Bee Stinging Cures Rheumatism

Kamloops, B.C., Sept. 13.—That every sufferer from sciatica, lumbago and rheumatism should become an apiarist is the firm conviction of William Woodward, who was in the city from his ranch at Hedley Creek recently, hoping to meet someone who had a stock of bees for sale. Not only must the rheumatism sufferer keep bees, but he must undergo a stinging treatment, if he is to get rid of his complaint, he ought to know. Mr. Woodward asserts that this is not mere theory, but a tangible remedy within reach of any one who will undergo the treatment, and as he has had the experience, he ought to know. This is his account of the business. He said: "You know what a wreck I was a few months ago, not only was I in continued pain but I couldn't stand upright, and could hardly walk. I went into the hospital and to the Hot Springs. Nothing did me any good. Then I was told to go to the Coast, that I should get no benefit here, I must have air and a lower altitude, so I started for California, intending to spend the winter there. Going through Washington, the conductor of the train noticed my painful condition, and whilst we were in the States, he was the trouble. When I told him he strongly advised me to get off at Kamloops, and see a man who kept bees and have a course of stinging treatment."

Fortunately I took his advice, and after making preliminary inquiries which showed a number of people who had been not merely benefited, but cured of these troublesome complaints, I submitted to the treatment which consisted of capturing a few bees in a glass tumbler and by reversing the glass over the seat of pain let them sting and a few minutes afterwards pull out the sting and forget the stinging as soon as possible. The first application was three bees to my left knee, the next day a few more to my arms, hands and shoulders. In fact wherever the pain was located, I was stung twenty-eight times in seven days and really the irritation and smarting was not unbearable by any means. "On the ninth day I came away, with a new lease of life. Certainly Mr. Woodward's appearance bears out his testimony."

An article that has just met should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by Lacombe Drug Co., Ltd.

Paul Gilmore

Mr. Paul Gilmore, in "The Haven" a play by H. S. Sheldon which ran all last season in New York, will be the engagement of the Grand Theatre, Thursday, Oct. 3. This strong drama has gained special distinction because of the fact that it presents a new treatment of the "franchise" problem. Its very title is due to its uncompromising revelation of "The Haven" that remains when the flames of a guilty passion have burned away. From the wreck of a domestic happiness that creates their antagonist, a central figure of the sincerest strength, the husband of the story's faithless wife, and the daring novelty of an old theme, a new handling is found in this husband's action when he discovers that his wife has a lover and instantly adopts a means of punishment far more effective than an appeal to the unwritten law. Mr. Paul Gilmore gives a powerful portrayal of this role of Richard Craig, the wronged husband, and is supported by players especially chosen for high artistic quality.

"My GURNEY OXFORD jumped right in and helped with my housekeeping"

Dear Edith,

In a general way I have wished you all the good things I know of, so now I am going to descend to the practical and give you some sound advice from the store I have accumulated since I started housekeeping.

Housekeeping naturally suggests the kitchen first—its equipment and management, or in other words, THE RANGE

My range, as you know, is a Gurney-Oxford. I never enjoyed much of a reputation as a cook in my younger days, so when I thought of being responsible for three meals a day my heart sank. I imagined myself battling all day with a sulky range, trying to coax it into a good humour, and covered with mortification because of late or spoiled meals. But my dear, my Gurney-Oxford seemed to sympathize with my inexperience. From the day it came it jumped right in and helped. It has become my good right hand, and I go my way confident that my Gurney-Oxford will not disappoint me.

It has the cleverest arrangement for regulating the drafts, well named the Gurney Economizer. One small lever put up or down does everything. The fire will stay in all day, hardly burning any coal at all—then presto! It is burning brightly, ready to bake or roast. An arrangement of flues keeps the oven always properly heated, so that the biscuits or bread come out light and crisp and brown. Yes, Edith, as Bob says, I have developed into "some cook," and I often tell him he must give at least half the credit to our Gurney-Oxford.

You will understand my enthusiasm better after you have had your Gurney-Oxford a month or so.

Sincerely Yours,

MARY HOUSEWIFE.

BAKERY always GOOD

TWO LOAVES OF BREAD can look exactly alike, but one can contain 50 per cent more food value than the other, mainly because the good one is made from flour carrying a large percentage of gluten, the main food constituent of high grade wheat—for good bread can only be made from good flour. This is one reason why Beatty's bread is of a superior value; others are the skill and sanitary care used in mixing the dough and baking.

MORAL—Use "Oak Lake" flour.

The House of Quality

The Fruit Stampede is nearly over, and when it is, remember our Groceries are sold on the same scale as our Fruit, everything O.K. and a little cheaper than the rest.

Watch the Bread and Buns at the Fair and see how much bigger the loaves are that are made from Oak Lake.

Follow the crowd and buy Oak Lake Flour, it is fast becoming the Popular Brand.

MEADOWBROOK

Mrs. B. Heath, of Canmore, Alta., who has been paying a visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. Heath, expects to return home on Monday.

Due to the bad weather which has prevailed up to the present, haying and grain cutting have been progressing simultaneously in this neighborhood. Thanks to the better weather we have had more recently, the farmers around here are taking heart again. Out for the fall is coming!

An old friend, Mr. A. Paton, of Merritt, B. C., has been staying with Mr. Ed. Bullock since their return from their pleasure trip. Mr. Paton has been helping with the haying and haying. He is rather disappointed with Alberta weather, and thinks he will return to hang up his hat in B. C.

On Thursday afternoon when their respective respected and industrious husbands were hard at work, Mrs. B. Heath, Mrs. F. Riley and Mrs. Ed. Bullock met at the home of the last mentioned lady to discuss a cup of tea and (we expect) other things. The meeting was in honor of Mrs. B. Heath, who was thus able to chat over old times with her former neighbors.

Service is held every Sunday morning in the Meadowbrook schoolhouse at 11:00 o'clock, conducted by the Presbyterian preacher, Mr. W. P. Garfield.

The school will be closed on Thursday and Friday of next week (Sept. 26th and 27th) owing to the holding of the Lacombe Teachers' Convention at which our teachers expect to be present.

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by the Lacombe Drug Co., Ltd.

PAUL GILMORE

Mr. Paul Gilmore will be seen at the Grand Theatre, Thursday, October 2nd in "The Havoc," H. D. Sheldon's powerful dramatic triumph. "The Havoc" which ran all last season at the Bijou in New York, proving one of the big hits, represents a wide sweep to which the American audience have been accustomed. It does not make heroes of the principals of lawless passion but shows the lawless passion by illicit love. The theme of the play is a merciless arraignment of the so-called modern thought which has been preached to American readers by authors of erotic novels and by movie-minded dramatists whose plays written from the European point of view have been exploited on the American stage. Mr. Gilmore's new role brings into play every quality of the actor-manager's matured heart.

FLYNN-JOHNSON FIGHT PICTURES

At the Grand on Saturday next, 2,400 feet of the Johnson-Flynn fight pictures will be shown in addition to other pictures. These pictures were taken at the ring side at Las Vegas, N.M., July 4th, of this year. The Edmonton Capital says the following about the pictures: "Gee, but the Big Smoke almost lost out! This is ninety per cent of the opinion of the fans who witnessed the Johnson-Flynn pictures at the Orpheum yesterday. All day a continual stream of people poured into the theatre and aided by Meyer Cohen's complete description of the different rounds were able to see everything that transpired at Las Vegas. There can be no two opinions about Flynn having a splendid opportunity of regaining the championship of the world for the white race and further it is plain to be seen that the Big Smoke is on the down grade and it is but a short time before he is knocked off his present pedestal."

UNCLE WALT

Wherever man's heartstrings quiver with grief or discontent, he blames it on his liver or on the government. He either buys a bottle of bitters dark and sour, or says that we should throttle the party that's in power. Into his inner chamber he throws a spear, and heaves a brick at it. He never says: "The trouble that looms up so immense, has got me folded double because I have no sense. It's fitting retribution, effect that follows cause, for making revolution against the saner laws. I loaded when others labored, I let my credit slump, I goaded when my neighbor's be tailing at the pump. Bad habits I contracted, my comrades all were cheap a harvest of disaster. I now am killed to sleep." No fellow or comrade in such a wholesome strain, he tells of his distresses, his grief and mental pain as though he were a victim of fortune stern and grim—the gods came down and kicked him—there's nothing wrong with him. His principles and morals are always all correct; he never indulged in quarrels with all things circumpect. No critic can discover a blemish on this gem, the trouble's with his liver or else the government.

The Royal Bank of Canada
BENTLEY, ALBERTA
Sub branch to Lacombe
Office hours 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.
EDWARD J. QUINN, Manager

A little snow is sitting down today, but melts as fast as it falls. It has dampened things enough, however, to stop threshing operations as well as stacking.

A social dance was enjoyed by those present at the McPherson Hall on Saturday night, but the rain made the attendance small.

The M. W. of A. camp are arranging for an entertainment and hard time dance at the hall for Friday night, Oct. 4th. All are invited to attend.

The sale at Mrs. Matthews for his threshing rig this week, last Friday was well attended and good prices were received to the satisfaction of Mrs. Matthews and auctioneer Dameron.

Geo. A. Graham now has a section of land. He has bought a lot of cattle, farm implements etc., and is about to settle down to farming again at Bentley.

It is reported that B. E. Williams has bought the L. E. Cole place, up the valley.

J. B. McPherson is looking for his threshing rig this week, and expects to be ready to start up as soon as threshing is fit again.

Messrs. E. J. Harrison, of Cantril, Ia., a cousin of Dameron Bros. and Warren Smith, of Amarilla, Texas, arrived, last Saturday for a visit to the district.

Several bunches of cattle were gathered at Bentley last week for shipment.

The Royal Bank at Bentley is not getting the support of the business in this district that it should, and if it is withdrawn, will be a hard blow to the town.

THE HAVOC

The Paul Gilmore engagement at the Const Theatre will present the actor-manager in a big dominant role of the type with which playgoers have learned to associate his name. "The Havoc" is a tense, gripping drama built upon the story of a duel of wits between an injured husband and a treacherous guest in his home. The big role of the play, the husband, offers one of the most convincing characters seen on the stage in recent years and is played by Mr. Gilmore with quiet power and tense nervous force.
